96.

Perambulator, for measuring the length of roads, streets, &c., consists of an accurately framed Mahogany Wheel, Brass Clamped, the circumference of which is ascertained; the axis of this Wheel is connected by a series of toothed wheels and pinions to a dial, upon which the number of revolutions of the Wheel are recorded. The divisions upon the dial are English Measures; but any Foreign scale can be substituted to order.

96. Price, best mounted and finished £16 16 0

NEGRETTI & ZAMBRA'S IMPROVED TROCHEAMETER,
For measuring distances by the revolutions of a Carriage Wheel.

97.

The Instrument is fitted into a metal case, covered with leather, provided with straps for fixing to the axle box of the left side wheel and central with it. In this position the case revolves with the wheel, but the instrument inside remains pendent.

The recording portion of the Trocheameter consists of two graduated circular Dials. Each division upon the outer dial represents one revolution of the carriage wheel, the entire circle being equal to 100 revolutions. The inner dial records the revolutions of the outer one, each division representing 100 revolutions of the carriage wheel. Hence it will be seen that when the outer dial has made a complete revolution, the index pointing on the inner dial will have moved one division. The total number of divisions on the inner dial will therefore indicate 9,900 revolutions of the carriage wheel.

97. Price in case £3 10 0

NEGRETTI & ZAMBRA'S Pedometers, &c.

99.

99.

Pedometer for measuring the distance travelled by a Pedestrian. It never requires winding, the first step of the Pedestrian sets the works in motion; which continue to act as long as he moves, and stop when he stops. The dial is divided into twelve divisions, which represent so many miles, but can be adapted to record kilometres or any other measure of distance.
